

Fletcher Building appoints Carl Powell as Chief Information Officer

Auckland, 3 September 2013 – Fletcher Building has appointed Carl Powell to the newly created position of Chief Information Officer, commencing December 2013.

Reporting to Chief Executive Officer Mark Adamson, Carl will have responsibility for developing and implementing a Fletcher Building-wide IT strategy, including the development of a digital strategy and a general review of the structure and technology landscape across the group.

Carl is joining Fletcher Building from the UK where he has been Group CIO of Unipart Group for the past four years. In this role he has been responsible for the overall strategy and operation of IT and successfully restructured the delivery of IT across the Unipart Group. Carl has extensive experience in leading IT and digital projects and in supply chain and logistics management.
